

It's Gothenburg's time to maintain our sport's momentum

After a spectacular year for athletics in 2012, we are pleased that the event tasked with keeping up the momentum our sport has on the continent is the Göteborg 2013 European Athletics Indoor Championships.

It is the first major athletics championships following the Helsinki 2012 European Athletics Championships and London 2012 Olympic Games, and promises to be the latest in a line of memorable athletics events.

Göteborg can boast of an excellent tradition in the sport. It hosted the European Athletics Championships in 2006 – a hugely successful event that saw sold-out crowds every evening contributing to a fantastic atmosphere.

It's the fourth time the European Athletics Indoor Championships are taking place in Sweden, with the Scandinavium claiming its hat-trick of hosting the prestigious event after championships held there in 1974 and 1984. Stockholm's Globen also hosted the event in 1996.

The sheer interest in athletics at this moment in time will ensure that the eyes of Europe and the world will be trained on Göteborg the whole weekend. I am confident the television audiences will be strong, the media interest high, and the discussions between athletics fans across social networks particularly strong.

I know from my many visits to Göteborg that its people love athletics and sport in general and I have no doubt that they will fill the Scandinavium for the three days of the championships, to ensure they catch a glimpse of many of the stars we saw in action in 2012. Aside from enjoying the best that Europe has to offer in terms of athletics, I am also looking forward to the "All Under One Roof" experience that the championships promise, with all manner of activities open to the public throughout the event.

I would like to register my thanks to those who dedicate much of their lives to the invaluable production of athletics statistics, and whose passion for the sport is reflected in this excellent statistical companion guide to the championships that you have in your hands. On behalf of European Athletics, I would also like to thank the City of Göteborg, the Swedish athletics federation and the local organising committee for all their hard work in the organisation of the championships.

We are all looking forward to another outstanding event, and we are confident that Göteborg 2013 – with your invaluable help – will write its own special chapter in the history of athletics.

European Athletics President

Welcome to Göteborg - again!

After several years of planning and preparation, we are now ready to welcome all of you to the 32nd European Athletics Indoor Championships, which will be held in Scandinavium Indoor Arena for the third time.

As part of its international strategy, the Swedish Athletic Association wants to be a regular host of international events, since this gives an opportunity to promote athletics towards youth and parents, media, politicians, the general public and sponsors. As former General Secretary of the European Athletics Championships 2006, I know from my personal experience how a major event can leverage the sport of athletics.

We are therefore proud that European Athletics has given us the opportunity to host the 2013 European Athletics Indoor Championships. It will be the fourth time that we host this event in Sweden, last time was in Stockholm in 1996. A lot has happened on the track since then and I hope that this Statistics Handbook will be a valuable tool for you to study results from all the previous championships as well as current records on various levels. During the weekend we will see a big number of new medallists to be added to the Medal Table for the future and I hope that there also will be a lot records broken, not at least on national level.

The Local Organising Committee, its staff and 780 enthusiastic volunteers, with the assistance of European Athletics and large number of partners, have been working hard to make the event a great success. We have done our outmost to create an event with a friendly and exciting spirit.

I hope you will enjoy the reading of this handbook as well as your stay Göteborg.

LOC President

Acknowledgments

This is an updated version of the 2009 book which was created for the 2009 European Athletics Indoor Championships in Turin.

All data however has been completely refreshed from the database to avoid mistakes in the update process. Problems/mistakes in the last edition have also been corrected.

In addition, the outlook of the book has been almost completely redone and the draft of the book has been edited in native A5 paper size to ensure readability throughout the book.

An important fact is that for this book only championships called “European Indoor Championships” were considered and therefore the European Indoor Games 1966-1969 are not a part of this book.

All questions and corrections are welcomed by email to the editor: mirko@european-athletics-statistics.org.

Your comments and suggestions for further improvements are appreciated.
